Outdoor Design Group – Firm Profile

Outdoor Design Group, Inc. is a Colorado based landscape architecture and land planning firm. We provide our clients with personalized and professional consulting, design, and project management services. We specialize in using common-sense design and planning solutions to help our clients create functional, beautiful, and sustainable places.

Matt Corrión, RLA, ASLA, founded Outdoor Design Group (ODG) in 2004, in Denver, Colorado. Matt is a licensed landscape architect with over 10 years of experience working in the landscape architecture, land planning, and land development industries in the Midwest and western United States. Since its inception, ODG has successfully completed work on a diverse portfolio of projects of varying types and sizes, including: master planned communities, public and private parks, large commercial and retail projects, public and private streetscapes, medical facilities, senior and assisted living facilities, corporate facilities, site renovations, multi-family projects, and private residences.

Our client base encompasses a wide range of private and public entities, including: real estate developers, architects, municipalities and public agencies, homebuilders, civil engineers, planners, contractors, home owners associations, metro districts, property management companies, property owners, homeowners, and businesses. We have worked in/with numerous municipalities throughout Colorado and the U.S., and we have a thorough understanding of local and state requirements and the keys to successful project negotiations. Through our relationships with contractors, we keep up to date with the latest construction techniques, pricing, and market conditions.

Our project philosophy is to combine creative design ideas and thoughtful site analysis with realistic approaches that meet the goals of our clients. We strive to balance the needs of the various public and private interests involved with those of the environment in order to create the best possible final outcome. Our ultimate goal for every project is to develop creative solutions that can be constructed efficiently in the real world, and that the finished project brings value and meets the needs of our client while fitting appropriately within the context of the natural environment and surrounding community.

Outdoor Design Group has a reputation for being reliable, efficient, and always delivering professional work. Because we are a smaller firm we are able to provide personalized service and great attention to detail while giving our clients an excellent value. We utilize the latest computer equipment, design software, and technology to stay on the cutting edge of the industry. We welcome the opportunities and challenges that each new project brings us.
